Submit Your Poster Abstract, Financial Aid Application Today!

IASP is now accepting submissions of poster abstracts and applications for financial aid for the 14th World Congress on Pain, to be held August 27-31, 2012, in Milan, Italy. Submit your financial aid applications and poster abstracts no later than February 6, 2012.

As many as 2,000 posters will be featured at the Congress. Presenting authors will be available to share their thoughts and discoveries and answer questions during hour-long discussion periods held each day. Read more about poster abstract guidelines.

In addition, the association is also accepting applications for financial aid to attend the Congress. Applicants should be from developing or currency-restricted countries or be trainees from developed countries. The awards include complimentary Congress registration and are intended to assist with travel expenses, but not cover the entire cost of attendance. In 2010, nearly 400 applicants received awards totaling more than US$350,000 to attend the 13th World Congress on Pain in Montréal, Canada.

The top financial aid applicant will receive the new Philip A. Spiegel IASP Congress Trainee Scholarship, which covers the entire cost of the recipient's travel, registration, and hotel stay for the Congress. The award honors a young IASP member who passed away following the Montréal Congress. Learn more about applying for financial aid.
